Retiring

FREDERICK EDWIN NEWTON

FOR forty-four years he has been active in helping to build this school from a handful of buildings to its present size. To two generations has he patiently taught his art of mathematics. Now he is leaving us, but his name will always be among Andover's famous and beloved.

Dedication

JAMES COWAN SAWYER

TO him we dedicate this book in gratefulness for his years of most valuable and devoted service to the school as its treasurer, from which position of importance he retires this spring to a life of well-earned ease.

In Memoriam

WARREN KING MOOREHEAD

ALTHOUGH he was no longer connected with the school, his death cast a dark shadow over all the "Hill." His lasting contribution to the school as the Director of the Archaeology Department will help to keep his memory long alive.

THIRTY-SEVEN years had he labored in building up our valuable health department and system of athletics. Feeling his work done and needing rest, he was planning to retire when he suddenly passed away. It was a sad, irreparable loss.

Foreword

THE 1939 POT POURRI continues the trend toward modernization which was so successfully experimented with last year. Considerable expansion in sections formerly cramped has been undertaken, and the number of pictures greatly increased, two notable results of the slightly higher subscription rate. The editors sincerely believe that this book, with more emphasis than before on curricular activities and the underclasses, conveys and is in keeping with the spirited yet dignified tone of Andover.

Administration and Faculty

PROBABLY no preparatory school in the country is so fortunate as to have the large number of able instructors that Phillips Academy has. Consequently Andover's courses are both of great interest and value. With such a fine group of masters at school, it is not surprising that students have voluntarily sought faculty acquaintances outside the classroom. As a result many students count among their friends faculty members who frequently entertain boys in their homes.

Seniors

THE Seniors at Andover occupy of course the position of leadership and esteem that they deserve. Nevertheless it is very true that a great number of intimate acquaintances exist between them and the underclassmen. Although the POT POURRI is no longer exclusively a publication of the Senior class, it is only fitting that a considerable portion of it should be devoted to those about to graduate. May it long serve to keep alive their fond memories!

TYPICAL ANDOVER SCENE

Junior Year

OUR class's first invasion of Andover Hill was none the less enthusiastic despite the two-week delay occasioned by the infantile paralysis scare. We arrived about the first of October—126 strong—to take up residence in Williams Hall and in the new, resplendent Rockwell House. We soon proved indispensable to the upperclassmen, who were incapable of moving their own furniture. As we began our final year in Andover last Fall, it was saddening to note that only one-third of those gallant grovellers had survived to carry on the honor of the class's founders.

Mr. Di Climenti was also a "prep" in 1935, and he did the Athletic Association a great service by organizing Junior Athletics. Under this institution, a rivalry between Williams and Rockwell was inaugurated. In football both house teams took a game, Walsh, Rafferty, Kiley, and Coty starring for Rockwell and Campion, Kittredge, Bob, and Rollo Fisher for the opposition. Williams proved the superior aggregation in soccer, taking two games out of three as Marshall, Clark, Cuthell, Peter Anderson, and Angelo Smith starred. Baseball was an activity in which the Benedictine forces returned to favor, but the outstanding pitchers were Walsh and Jones of Williams. The only other incident regarding house rivalry that is worth mention was a horrific snowball fight. In this affair twenty "Rocks" stormed Williams Hall and were repulsed by a counter attack of fifty "Willies."

But enough of this, because there were more important events taking place on Andover Hill at the time. Except for the Exeter football game, which we lost 7-0 because of a blocked kick, varsity athletics had a very successful year. In the autumn, Captain Swihart led the soccer team to a victory over the Red and Gray which in part made up for the defeat sustained by Captain Graham and the gridders. The Winter Term was singularly successful in that Exeter did not conquer the Blue in any sport. Mr. Di Climenti pulled basketball out of the doldrums, and his team, led by Captain Conant, engineered a thrilling victory over the Exonian hoopsters, 36-30. The hockey team's 8-2 Exeter victory was also important because it was the first triumph over the Red and Gray in nine years. The Spring Term developed a powerful track team whose crushing defeat of Exeter began a string of major sport victories, which at this writing has reached the total of nine. Ted Harrison held the Red and Gray batsmen to four hits for a 6-1 victory. In so doing, he hurled the first of three thrilling victories over P.E.A.

Shaw's Androcles and the Lion was presented by the Dramatic Club under the direction of Mr. Cook. Not to be outdone by the students, the faculty gave a side-splitting performance of Anna Ogden's Fashion, in which Mrs. Hallowell, Mr. Barrows, and Mr. and Mrs. Hayes starred. The Phillipian conducted a school-wide poll which predicted a landslide for Landon. The Mirror was revived with three sparkling issues, and Philo awoke, to stage a lively debating tournament. During the Spring Term our class elected its first class officers. They were Jim Kittredge, Eli Clark, and Tom Kelley. Very few of us had College Boards our first year, so as soon as June fifteenth rolled around, we were off for home and summer vacation.

FREDERICK K. GILE

Lower Middle Year

BECAUSE an extra week was added on to our spring vacation this year, we were obliged to return to the Hill a week earlier than usual in September to compensate. We were soon settled in the ordinary routine of school life, however, although those of us used to the comfortable quiet and convenience of Williams Hall found a new thrill in dormitory life and a daily annoyance in the early morning walk to the Commons. It was a new and satisfying experience to belong to the ranks of "old men," and to have some one to look down upon.

During 1936-1937, the athletic teams were the most successful Andover had seen in a long time, only the swimmers, golfers, and lacrosse men falling down to defeat. "Cape" Burnam led from the bench a football team which was undefeated and unscored-upon until the Exeter game, which ended in a 12-7 triumph for old P. A. In the spring, the Red and Gray was again vanquished by a strong Blue track team, while the baseball team, with Ted Harrison on the mound for the second season, chalked up still another victory against our ancient rivals by a score of 8 to 0.

At various times throughout the year we were fortunate in hearing and seeing such notables as Fritz Kreisler, John McCormack, Trudi Schoop, and the Russian Symphonic Choir, in addition to other artists and lecturers. One of the most delightful entertainments was an outstanding performance by the Dramatic Club of the hilarious comedy, June Moon, under the capable direction of Mr. Cook.

It was with some impatience that we watched the slow remodeling of Bulfinch Hall into a special building to accommodate the English Department, and those who still had classes in Graves Hall breathed sighs of relief when the interior was completed March 29, two months behind schedule. In its present remodeled state, this century-old masterpiece of the famous Charles Bulfinch has often been called the most beautiful school building in New England. At this time the foundations were laid for the new faculty houses in "Little Siberia," and the fall of 1937 was conservatively set for the date of completion.

With these splendid improvements in mind, we sadly learned of the passing of Thomas Cochran and George "Pap" Eaton. Thomas Cochran was Andover's greatest benefactor, and made possible, financially, many of our beautiful buildings, and the growth of the school to its present size. We never knew "Pap" personally, but greatly respected him as a loyal and devoted friend of the school and teacher of our predecessors.

Contributions of friends and alumni made possible the establishment of the Teachers' Retirement Fund in 1937. With it, at the end of the year, departed three great and beloved teachers, Charlie Stone, Archie Freeman, and Jimmy Graham, who had important parts in Andover's rise to greatness during the last thirty years.

A phenomenally open winter made the year as a whole most enjoyable. The complete lack of snow and even of cold weather brought loud cries of protest from the skiers and skaters, but delighted the rest of us. Winter blended into the glorious Andover spring, with its shady elms, luxuriant lawns, clear balmy days, and happy excursions. It was with mingled emotions, that we took our leave of Andover in June for the second time. We were, in the fall, to return to a less carefree and increasingly important role among the student body.

RICHARD W. DIBBLE

Upper Middle Year

GRADUATING to dormitories from the faculty houses of our Lower year, and at last becoming "Upper Classmen," we felt, on returning to the Hill, that we were much more important, not only in the eyes of our schoolmates, but also in the eyes of the faculty. Increased privileges were to us sufficient proof of this elevated status. Our feeling of superiority vanished as soon as the novelty of our positions wore off, and we settled down to begin our third year at Andover.

As the weeks rolled by, we were privileged to hear notable lectures by George Sokolsky, Alan Villiers, Robert Frost, and many others, in addition to concerts by the world-renowned Richard Crooks, Marcel Dupré, and Giuseppe Moschetti. Success in the field of sport helped create a happy atmosphere on the Hill, Exeter bowing in defeat to us in football, track, baseball, wrestling, soccer, and fencing. Ted Harrison won his third straight baseball game from the Red and Gray by a prodigious home run with two men on base. Some of the more ingenious practical jokers in school had fun at the expense of the faculty and students by creating the mythical A. Montague Fitzpatrick and the "Musty Bowl." A. Montague, with a fearful number of "cuts," died a premature death when faculty persecution made it too hot for his creators, and the "Musty Bowl" was forgotten after it had served its purpose in drawing a great number of boys on the run to get free meals at a fictitious lunch room. These practical jokes stimulated the undergraduates a great deal.

Extracurricular activities flourished, the year being marked particularly by the Dramatic Club's excellent presentation of Cock Robin and by the reorganization of the Riveters who often played before the movies on Saturday evenings. The Society of Inquiry was singularly successful in conducting its charities drive, as the goal of twenty-seven hundred dollars was topped by a considerable margin. The Winter Prom, with Claude Hopkins and his orchestra, gave us something to look forward to during the dark months of January and February. It lived up to its expectations fully. Artie Shaw drew a large number to the Spring Prom which, although successful, was more of a "jam" session than a dance. An important change in student government was effected by the remodeling of the Senior Council of seven members, into a Student Council of fourteen members, in which each class was represented. This year saw the plan successfully instituted, but it remains for future years to show us whether or not it will function as desired by its instigators, as an influential voice to express the opinions, pro and con, of the entire student body.

The only mars to the escutcheon of the year were the deaths of two recently appointed trustees, Mr. Lansing P. Reed, and Mr. John W. Prentiss. A friend and benefactor was also lost to the school in the death of a former trustee, Mr. Charles Morgan. The Academy was fortunate, however, in securing men of the caliber of Bishop Henry Wise Hobson, of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Mr. Robert Abbe Gardner of Lake Forest, Illinois, as new members of the Board of Trustees. As we look back now, it is easily seen that we could not have wished for a better year, or one more typical of Andover life. We had but one more step to take, and we would at last be Seniors.

THOMAS B. HEWITT

Senior Year

OUR summer vacation fled as swiftly as usual, but we returned to school more willingly than we have before, elated by the prospect of assuming senior privilege and prestige. We eagerly applied the lash to the "preps" with the result that our furniture and belongings were soon installed in our luxurious new quarters. The shorter walk to breakfast and classes as well as the use of the Senior Fence were conveniences of which we were very appreciative. Before long, school life had settled down to the familiar routine, and, strangely enough, we did not feel as high and mighty as we had supposed seniors felt. One of the most exciting and important events of the year took place just about a week after school opened. The worst of the New England hurricane struck the Hill at about seven o'clock in the evening. Huge trees were broken off and uprooted, blocking many roads and severing light and communication lines. Boys gathered around struggling trees cheering them on. Shameful was the glee when the wind hurled great elms to the ground. Before anybody was hurt, though, the faculty ordered everyone inside. The scene of desolation that greeted the eye the next morning was soon repaired, and we considered ourselves lucky that we had not suffered the devastation that other localities had.

Time passed uneventfully until the month of November. Jim Ryley kept his remarkable soccer slate clean in a tensely exciting contest with Exeter. In football, Bill Townson led his team to hard-won victory over the confident Red and Gray cohorts. By dint of this achievement the "preps" were elevated to a status of social equality with the "old boys." At about this time the Society of Inquiry staged its annual charities drive, which proved to be the most lucrative in the history of the school. The money was distributed to such organizations as the Grenfell Mission, the Hampton Institute, and the Red Cross, as well as being used to obtain speakers, provide for a school scholarship, and help the Andover Guild. During the last few weeks of the term, H.O.L. Flecker, headmaster of Christ's Hospital in England, spent considerable time around the school. He addressed the students several times, presenting an interesting picture of school life in England. He was apparently so impressed with the school that he immediately sent over his ranking scholar, Robin DuBoulay, who took his place in school along with several other exchange students, from Germany and England.

Our return to school in the winter was saddened by the death of Dr. Moorehead, who had retired the previous spring. It was particularly difficult to get back into the "swing" of things as the weather was singularly uninspiring. To brighten up a dull term, an unusual program of entertainments was carried through. For many, the Prom, for which Bunny Berigan provided the music, was the most enjoyable event of the winter. There were also many undergraduates at the third of the year's five tea dances, held in February. Other entertaining evenings were provided by Trudi Schoop's comic ballet, the much-praised Salzburg Trappe Choir, and the Latin Department, which produced Phormio in the costume of ancient Rome and spoken in Latin. The large audience was very appreciative of the students' fine performance. Indisputably, though, Walter Giesiking's piano concert was the most outstanding performance presented at Andover for years. We were indeed fortunate in being able to obtain him. Our string of major triumphs over Exeter was finally broken when we met defeat in track. Our thrilling victories in wrestling and basketball were considerable compensation, however. It was with joy that we escaped from Andover, snow-bound by a two-foot fall, for our spring vacation.

As we returned and started working in earnest for our diplomas, we did not have the encouragement generally afforded by the beautiful spring weather. It was so miserable that in early May it seemed scarcely April. After weeks of rehearsal, the Dramatic Club gave a sterling performance of Ceiling Zero, which would have been well worth the time of a talent scout. Other good entertainments were provided by Mr. Feild, who spoke on Walt Disney, and Mr. Brown, dramatic critic. Dr. Stearns, always a loved and well-known figure on the Hill, was enthusiastically welcomed back when he addressed the students in May. The truly tragic death of Dr. Page, who, shaken by the death of his daughter, had planned to retire in early June, profoundly affected all who had known or heard of him. Mr. Newton, who retired this year, likewise left a large gap in the school. None should worry, though, for the faculty is constantly being increased by the addition of capable young instructors, nine this year. After a prom, notable for its dancable music and inexpensiveness, and the worst college board week yet, we took a sad farewell of Andover. Our roads, parallel for several years, at last parted. Our experience here had been most worth while and enjoyable, to be remembered for a lifetime.

CHARLES W. MULCAHY

Activities

POSSIBLY no school has as many undergraduate extracurricular activities as Andover. For almost every boy who comes here, there is an organized club that gives him the opportunity to enjoy his hobby. Some of these clubs die off now and again, but whenever a group of boys particularly interested in some kind of work get together, a new one is formed. Thus there exists a very flexible system that adjusts itself well to the character of the undergraduates.

Student Council

LAST year's Senior Council, with the aid of several outstanding members of the class, drew up a constitution which was almost unanimously accepted by the undergraduate vote. It changed the chief organ of student government from a Senior Council to a Student Council by adding to its composition three uppers, two lowers, and two juniors. Although elections were to be held each year, it was hoped that the representatives of the lower classes would be re-elected and thus bring valuable experience to the aid of future councils. The constitution also specified the duties and powers of the new council and laid down rules for certain orders of procedure.

While the position of the council is much like that of the King of the British Empire, its members accomplished a great deal by judiciously applying their influence. As usual they ran school elections, arranged tea dances, occasionally ran morning chapel, and attempted to set a good example of high conduct for the rest of the school. As representatives of the students they discussed Prom bands with the faculty, abolished the five-minute bell for waiters, made suggestions about discipline, urged more athletic contests with prep schools, discussed morning chapel with the authorities, kept a hand in the weekly movies, and obtained better receptions for visiting teams. One of the most valuable accomplishments of the year was the establishment of more friendly and intimate relations with school authorities. It is hoped by all that this is just the beginning of a new era for student government.

THE Phillips Academy Glee Club and Choir, under the leadership of Dr. Pfatteicher and Mr. Clark, again completed the year successfully. Mr. Guy Hebard Eaton, who in former years has been connected with club affairs, was greatly missed; but through the mutual co-operation of the leaders, the officers, and the eighty members, the schedule was ably fulfilled.

The first concert of the year was held in the fall term at the Rogers Hall School for Girls in Lowell. After an excellent performance given by the Glee Club, the girls entertained the Andoverians by a dinner and dance. A similar dance was held on the Hill at the beginning of the winter term with an equal amount of success. In the spring a joint concert was held by the Andover Musical Clubs and those of Bradford Junior College, which was directed by Dr. Pfatteicher and Mr. Johnson, the Bradford Conductor. After the concert, the girls were escorted to a dance in the Sawyer room of the Commons. Later on in the term the Musical Clubs of Andover were entertained by the girls of Beaver Country Day School of Boston. The boys enjoyed a tea dance given by the girls with the added attraction of dinner at the girls' own homes. The annual Exeter-Andover concert, held at Exeter, was an unqualified success.

The Glee Club and Choir presented many fine numbers in its repertoire at the various concerts. As a successor to its well-liked "Non piu andrai" of the past season, the Glee Club presented new novelty numbers from Mozart's "Magic Flute"—"Der Vogelfänger, bin ich ja," and "Ein Mädchen oder Weibchen." These numbers were most popular with the various audiences at the several affairs and were recalled on several occasions as encores. Handel's "Your Voices Raise," was ably rendered by the singers. At the Bradford concert, the combined clubs sang Bach's famous "Come and Thank Him," "Let not mortal flesh," and the final chorus to his stirring cantata, "Sleepers Wake." "The Polovetzian Dances" from Prince Igor by Alexandre Borodin was rendered by the combined clubs of Beaver Country Day School and Phillips Academy. Another new number introduced this year by the Glee Club was the finale of the Exeter concert, "The Coronation Scene" from Boris Godunov.

THE P. A. Band was organized early in the Fall Term to prepare for the approaching football game with Exeter. Again, Mr. E. Whittredge Clark was its conductor. An unusually promising group of recruits reported for service, and with this group as a nucleus, Mr. Clark's able direction turned out what many considered one of the finest bands in the history of the school. An important addition was made to the band's equipment with the purchase of a glockenspiel, for which the members of the band are extremely grateful to the generosity of the student body. The band played at the major sports contests with Exeter in fall and spring, as well as at the victory parades. Its repertoire consisted of "The Royal Blue," "Old P. A.," "The Exeter Marching Song," "Our Director," "El Capitan," "As the Backs Go Tearing By," "Down the Field," and various other college songs and marches. A new policy was founded at the Exeter contests: after every Andover score, the band whipped through the trio of Bigelow's "Our Director" in double time.

The Orchestra's string section was bolstered considerably by new men, and its composition in general was excellent. It assisted at the Rogers Hall concert in Lowell in the Fall Term, playing a "Suite" by Handel, and a "Sonatina" of Beethoven, both of which were very well received by an appreciative audience. In the spring term it took part in two concerts jointly with the Glee Club: the Beaver Country Day school concert, and the Exeter concert, both of which were held away from Andover. At these concerts, the first movement from Beethoven's Sixth Symphony, the "Pastorale," was added to the other two numbers.

DURING its seventh year on Andover Hill, the Camera Club began its activities by decreasing its membership to a small but active body of interested boys. By holding an examination for new members early in the fall term, the club gathered together only reasonably competent photographers. An amendment to the constitution, adopted last year, provided for the examination and a reduction in dues.

All members of the club were required to submit two salon prints before the mid-term rating of the fall term, thus forming a nucleus for the traveling exhibit. During the spring term exhibits were exchanged with several other schools, including Lawrenceville, Brooks, Governor Dummer, and Exeter. The annual commencement week salon was held in the Addison Gallery, and prizes were awarded for the best prints. From April 28th to April 30th, the club exhibited twelve prints in the first annual Preparatory School Salon in the University Club of Boston. Exeter, St. Mark's, Deerfield, Groton, Newton Country Day School, Dean, and Lawrence Academy were represented, and the number of entries totalled seventy-eight. J. B. Blake's print of the bridge over the Firth of Forth took first place among the exterior prints, while the action class honors went to D. P. Cameron's "Waltz." Honorable mention was given to Peter Joralemon for his interior scene, a study of a ship model. In exchange for our exhibits several other schools sent collections of prints which were prominently displayed in the library. In this way the club not only built up a friendly feeling with outsiders, but also brought into prominence the work that they were doing.

Throughout the year several informal talks and demonstrations were given by Mr. Benedict, faculty adviser and founder of the club. Print criticisms and discussions were added to the program to improve the work of the boys and to correct any errors in technique. No major equipment was added to the darkroom during the year because there was no need for it. The present equipment was very carefully handled and only a few minor repairs were necessary to keep the darkroom in excellent condition. A new door was added to make the room more light-proof. Profitable though the calendar had been in the past, none was printed during the winter term of this year. Instead a calendar covering the school year, having more dates and pictures, is being designed to appear in September for the convenience of new and returning students. Thus the Camera Club has in this past year attached itself more firmly to the extracurricular life of the school and has become an integral part of student activities at Andover.

Camera Club

Circle A

CIRCLE A, philanthropic organization of the students, was very active during the school year, doing much to help the poor in and about Andover. Under Mr. Baldwin's guidance the year's program was planned, and early in the fall, work was started. The first meetings were attended only by last year's members and a few new boys. Gradually, however, more and more lower classmen became interested so that the attendance at the meetings gave indication of a good year. One of the members' first acts of charity was to help distribute a number of Thanksgiving baskets to needy townspeople. By the end of November, the work at the Andover Guild was well under way. It is almost a tradition that the boys in Circle A take turns instructing youngsters at the Guild, the town's recreational hall, in basketball and bowling.

The exhibition and sale of Labrador goods made at the Grenfell Mission were again sponsored by the organization. Although proceeds were not as great as last year, the affair was undoubtedly very worth while. Just before the Christmas vacation the group undertook the sale of Tuberculosis seals. Also at this time was conducted an old-clothes drive. So successful was the drive that the huge duffle bags were bulging at the conclusion of the rounds. The articles collected were distributed both in Andover and Lawrence. In addition to this, in order to spread around some more Christmas cheer, the members of Circle A invited about fifty children from the Guild out to the Log Cabin. They were entertained royally with food and drink and afterwards treated to the movies. All concerned went home much the happier for the gay party.

The work during the Winter Term was carried on with unabated enthusiasm. Three new members were on hand to lend help with the Guild work. Again a group of children from the town were given a day's entertainment: athletic contests, supper, movies, and most exciting of all, a night in the Log Cabin. Another old-clothes drive was as successful in its yield as the first one.

During the spring the Guild work was faithfully carried on until its closing time in May. Under the direction of Circle A a group of children from homes on the Hill canvassed the faculty houses for children's books which were given to the Guild and the Salvation Army. A final old-clothes drive was held in conjunction with a collection of students' books for the loan library. The organization's unusually successful year, due to student coöperation, is undoubtedly an indication of increasing interest in the worth-while work that Circle A is doing.

ALTHOUGH the Dramatic Club had no officers at the beginning of the year, it was quickly organized, and shortly after Thanksgiving parts were being picked by Mr. Cochran for what was hoped would be an early production of Ceiling Zero. Several of those chosen were rejected by the faculty, so sighs of relief were breathed when a satisfactory cast was finally selected. The date of the performance was definitely set for April 29.

At the beginning of the spring term some much-needed polishing of details began. About a week before the play was to be presented, a few mishaps started what seemed to be a jinx. Jack Sullivan and Bill Cooke were in the infirmary with colds, and Tom Nicholson sprained his ankle. All recovered in time, however, although sly remarks were cast about a club-footed heroine.

In the excellent performance that resulted from long hours of preparation, Brad Murphy and Jack Sullivan were superlative. The latter as Jake Lee, an airline superintendent who was half heart and half machine, and the former, in a sterling portrayal of pilot Dizzy Davis, were both noteworthy for their ease of action and their flawless diction. Bill Moorhead and Bill Cooke deserve special credit for first-class performances since neither had done any acting before. Sid Cox, Jim McCaffrey, and Dave Ferguson were probably the best minor character actors in the play, with Joe Archbald and Tom Cochran close behind. Tom Flournoy was nerve-wracking as Mike Owens, a former pilot who had become crippled from a crash, while Hewitt Conway and Peter Fraser handled their parts confidently.

On the female side, fine performances were turned in by Tommy Nicholson as the air hostess-heroine and Frank Soule, the strong-armed wife of Texas Clark. This last named gentleman was depicted by Eli Clark, a veteran of former shows, who gave his part an unusually pleasing touch of naturalness and nonchalance.

The technical complications of Ceiling Zero were managed with unbelievable skill by Mr. Hallowell and Ken Spencer, who twiddled the dials of the all important sound machines and performed all miscellaneous jobs. Jim Spitz was responsible for the successful business manager-ship which left the club in stable financial condition.

The appreciation and admiration of the entire student body should go to the boys who worked for nearly six months to accomplish the task that they did so well. The direction of Mr. Cochran, and Mr. Hallowell's work with the scenery, could not have been better, and it is to be hoped that this combination will produce many more hits in the future.

Outing Club

THE Outing Club started its 1938-39 season with an enrollment of about sixty members, all looking forward with interest to an extremely active season. After the election of officers at the first meeting, activities began in earnest. Work was started on the five miles of club ski trails; a new downhill run was completed on Prospect Hill; and the slopes were cleared after the devastating New England hurricane. Two new outdoor fireplaces were built near the ski trails where on cool autumn evenings, fellows were wont to go to enjoy "feeds" of steak, cider, and doughnuts, then after the eating, Mr. Sanborn's abundant supply of interesting stories. Two groups of about twenty boys each went to Kennebunk, Maine, but most of the other excursions, including the popular one to Mount Kearsage, had to be cancelled on account of the hurricane damage. To the annual fall conference of both the United States Eastern Amateur Ski Association and the Private School Ski Association, the club sent its usual delegation. The climaxing trip of the term was to the Winter Sports Show in the Boston Garden, where club members witnessed exhibitions by some of the country's leading skiers. Before Christmas, Wendelin Hilty of the Plymouth Swiss Ski School came to the campus and gave a lecture with movies on skiing both in the United States and abroad. Another speaker was Charlie Dudley of Hanover, who gave a talk on proper skiing equipment. On both occasions, Peabody House was packed to capacity.

During the winter, the club's activities were focussed mainly on skiing. The basement of Johnson Hall was used throughout the term as both a ski repair shop and a general information bureau for skiing.

During the spring the program consisted mainly of trips. Two went to Tuckerman's Ravine where club members spent enjoyable week-ends skiing. On one of these trips they were able to witness both the Harvard-Dartmouth slalom races and the annual down-mountain run. Later another group went to the Newfound Lake region for trout fishing. In addition there were several popular one-day trips. One of the favorites went to Plum Island, where club members relaxed from the humdrum of school life by trying to lure ocean fish onto a hook. There was inaugurated the new idea of half-day trips to the coast, where everybody enjoyed the afternoon on the beach and returned to school in time for the Saturday night movies. The club is most grateful to Messrs. Sanborn and Minard for the untiring effort they put into its activities to make the season successful.

THE Philomathean Debating Society got off to a good start early in the fall under the guidance of its three officers who had already had one term's experience in directing the club's affairs. Mr. Brown, new English instructor, was chosen to judge the debates, replacing Mr. Higgins, who could no longer find the time to continue his valuable services to Philo. One of the first evenings back, a sample debate was staged to illustrate to newcomers the club's methods of procedure. Soon students began pairing off into teams and enrolling in the club. The modest dues that each member paid were pooled to form the cash prize given the skilled partnership that should win the tournament.

Needing only two terms for the elimination rounds, President Broderick, to give the less experienced speakers some practice, arranged a series of debates during the fall term which, although not counting in any competition, were of a formal nature. Before the first of the practice series began, however, the club had several hundred form sheets printed in order that all future Philo debates might be recorded in detail for posterity. Great interest was shown in these fall debates, which gave to inexperienced speakers considerable command of oratorical address.

Over vacation all unattached members were paired off and an elimination tournament framed. On the first Wednesday night of the new term the contest was started on its way with two debates, and every Wednesday thereafter two more were run off. High light of these winter debates was a record attendance of one hundred and fifty, well above the already high average of forty-two. Before the term closed, a business meeting was held at which new officers were chosen to guide the club's destinies for the coming year: N. Greene, President; W. Macomber, Vice-President; S. Cleveland, Secretary; and P. Bush, Treasurer. However, as Greene is slated to represent the school at Rugby next year, Macomber took over the helm. Under the enthusiastic and able leadership of these three, the school year, Philo's most successful in a long time, was brought to a happy close.

Another phase of debating at Andover consists of the varsity group, expertly coached by Mr. Allis. Any speaker of special ability who is spotted during the tournament debates is promoted to the varsity, which this year consisted of Broderick, J. W. Sullivan, S. Cleveland, J. Blum, Conway, J. Tuttle, Holthausen, and Knaur. Although the season this year was not very successful from the point of view of scores, the debaters did very well against the sturdy opposition of Exeter, Deerfield, Middlesex and the Yale, Harvard, Dartmouth and Williams freshmen.

Society of Inquiry

SPURRED on by their interest and enthusiasm and guided by Mr. Baldwin's plans and suggestions, the Society of Inquiry board began activities early in the fall. The program that they set up was very much in keeping with the aim of the organization: namely, to spread the practical gospel of Christian thought and action on the Hill.

As has been done in past years, a tea for the Preps was given at the Phillips Inn so that they might be made to feel a part of their new school. In addition, new students were given a concise but inclusive view of extra-curricular life at Andover by a meeting at which several seniors gave short talks. During the early fall, David Scott of the Student Christian Movement came to the Hill and became the center of a particularly interesting discussion in Mr. Baldwin's parlor. As cold weather set in, a group of undergraduates made a week-end trip to the annual Northfield Conference, where they discussed with other boys current problems of practical religion. The one large affair sponsored by the board during the fall was the concert by the Hampton Singers, whose singing of negro songs of all types attracted as large a crowd to George Washington Hall as it has in other years. Before vacation the annual P. A. charities drive was conducted, netting almost three thousand dollars. This marvellous response of the undergraduates enabled the Society of Inquiry to make unusually large contributions to deserving charity organizations, both local and national.

During the winter, three men of noted ability were brought into contact with interested students. After preaching in chapel Howard Thurman, a negro from Howard University, dined at the Log Cabin and told an attentive audience of his experiences in India. Many boys got an opportunity to talk with the Reverend John Currie, a favorite at Andover, who came to the Hill in January. To conclude the term's activities, Peabody House was opened for an informal lecture by Joshua Hubbard, an economist of noted ability, who spoke on the relation of religion to his work.

In the spring, Reverend Grant Noble of Williams and Reverend Sidney Lovett of Yale attracted groups of boys to interesting, informal discussions. Two large meetings in May, both great successes, were high lights of the school year. Doctor Stearns, beloved headmaster emeritus, was good enough to address the student body, and Doctor T. Z. Koo, already known at Andover, discussed most constructively Chinese affairs of the past decade. And thus, having elected next year's board, this year's members concluded a program that had really accomplished something worth while at Andover.

CARRYING on the tradition established in recent years, The Mirror published in each issue literary efforts which were as nearly representative of the entire school as possible. Under the energetic leadership of Editor-in-Chief Roger T. Lyford and Managing Editors Blum and Cook, the Literary Board considered carefully all work submitted. However, since the editors felt that there was not enough original literary work being handed in by the undergraduates, the board conducted a campaign to arouse the students to more creative efforts. Working through the English department, and by means of personal contact, asking, begging, wheedling, promising, and almost threatening, the board members secured results that they felt were more than usually satisfactory. The Literary Board is grateful to Dr. Fuess for the ten-dollar prize that he donated throughout the year for the best article in each issue. It gave considerable stimulus to the undergraduates. Thomas L. Kelley's small Business Board proved to be very efficient. It was active both in conducting the circulation campaign and in securing advertisements. Continuing with the increased rates adopted last year, the board succeeded in bringing former advertisers back to its pages along with many new ones.

The Exchange Board proved to be one of tumult and change. It was found that the list of exchanges, which was purposely enlarged last year, continued to expand itself to gargantuan proportions, so that Editor Hewitt was all but snowed under. Reciprocation would certainly have been followed by bankruptcy, so a reduced list was carefully selected.

The work of Curtis Fields' Art Board was particularly encouraging. The talented members not only illustrated the stories submitted, but also produced much of their own original work. Although The Mirror does not publish cartoons, the mildly humorous frontispieces and illustrations added much. Dr. Fuess's generosity in donating another ten-dollar prize for the best cover design submitted for each issue caused many embryo Rembrandts to outdo themselves in the competition.

Through the combined efforts of all of its boards, The Mirror experienced a highly successful year. Many thanks are due to Mr. Basford, the faculty adviser, and to Mr. Leonard and the English Department for their unflagging interest and coöperation, both in urging their students to submit articles and in helping the board members when the latter's experience proved inadequate. It is felt that a big stride has been taken toward future improvement.

Phillipian

AT the beginning of the sixty-first year of publication, the Phillipian board found itself faced with the usual task of maintaining the high literary and journalistic standards set in the past and of trying to make improvements. It took a few weeks for the new board to settle down to the routine of a semi-weekly publication, but, once broken in, it began to evolve certain policies both for the news and editorial columns.

Receiving the full coöperation of the headmaster, the editors found it possible to publish more news emanating from George Washington Hall. As much as possible, athletic news was reduced to somewhere near its proper proportion, while news of the administration was accorded its rightful importance. At the same time, the new board tried to boost some of the waning extracurricular activities, but, since many did not lend themselves to news reporting, the attempt was not too successful. In regard to editorials, the board tried to keep away from foreign affairs, which were adequately cared for in Stanley Cleveland's column, "Here and There." Most of the editorials centered about school life here, suggesting improvements. A concerted drive was made in the fall to get football games with other Prep schools besides Exeter. The advantages and difficulties of such games were fully explained, but only time will tell if there is to be any result. "This Andover," "Dirt on the Disks," "Sport Shots" and "The Play's the Thing" were the reigning columns of the year, with the competitive, humorous "Thru the Bars" living but a short life. On May 31 a bogus issue was sprung on the school.

Perhaps the outstanding innovation of the year was the foundation of fortnightly Phillipian Forums. These consisted of unbiased talks on current events by members of the school History Department. The talks were unusually well-attended at first, but during the latter part of the winter term interest lagged and the discussions were given up till next year. Much credit for the idea goes to Mr. James and Mr. Bender, who did nearly all of the organizing.

Under the able leadership of Peter Strauss and Robert Patteson the business end of the paper flourished, with a final prospect of dividends. Extra-page issues were possible frequently, the crowning touch being a ten-page edition at the end of the winter term. Nicholas Greene was elected assistant business manager in the winter, but, because of his opportunity to go to England to study, Randolph Harrison was elected to replace him for next year. At the banquet that closed the activity of the 1938-39 boards, Robert C. McGiffert was elected editor for 1940, A. B. Schultz, managing editor, and Stanley Cleveland, assignment editor.

THE general form and nature of the POT POURRI is of a quality such that probably no great changes will be made in it. Expansion of its material, however, is a different matter. In order that the book may some day be practically complete, a slow process of expanding, a few additional pages a year, must be undertaken, for a sudden increase would be very impractical from the point of view of both the subscribers and editors.

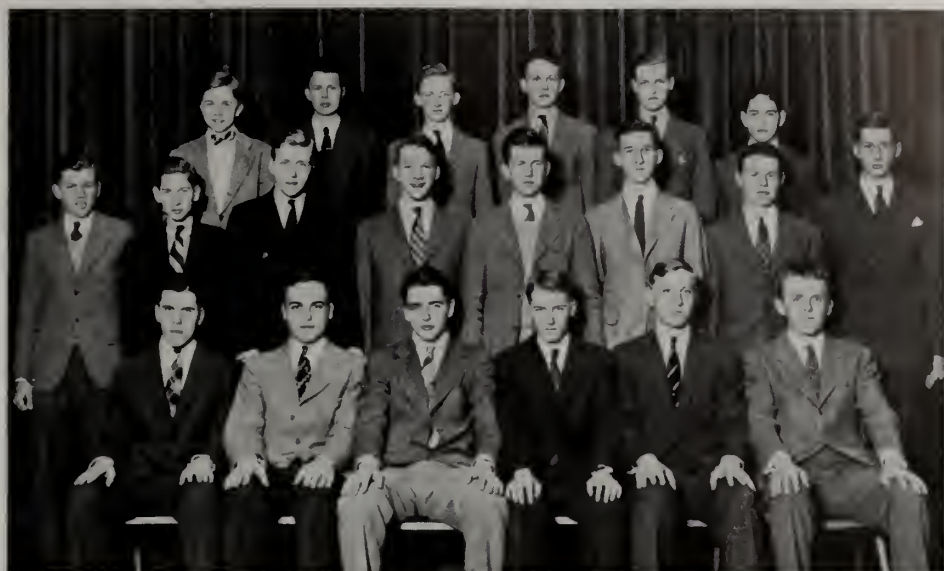

One of the minor changes this year is to make more obvious the interest and contribution of all four classes as regards the book. The idea is big, but the change small, for recently the POT POURRI has been an annual of the seniors alone only by letter, not in spirit. Another departure from the common practice is the increased attention devoted to the faculty. This has been done because neither the faculty nor, more generally, curricular activities have received proper emphasis in past POT POURRIS. This year's board has carried the book several steps toward the ultimate goal of expansion. An increase in price has permitted the rounding out of articles formerly cut too thin and the addition of valuable new ones. The remainder of the increased receipts has been invested in a large number of additional pictures, which, although rather concentrated in one section, are also appropriately placed throughout the rest of the book.

The editors of this POT POURRI, though their influence is now ended, take this opportunity to express their hopes for the future character and management of the book. They would like to see it be gradually expanded until every phase of school life is well covered. As it is now, the annual is run on too small a scale to include, for instance, individual pictures of each instructor, write-ups for such activities as the Woodworking Club, and resumés of the jayvee and club seasons. They also hope that the POT POURRI may continue to present an objective review of the school year, one which is not twisted to suit the viewpoints of the few that manage its affairs. Lastly, they hope that this annual may never be permitted to fall into the hands of a group which would exploit it to make a large profit for themselves.

The whole board herein extends its thanks to Mr. Leonard and Mr. Hopper, faculty advisers; Mr. Johnson of the Andover Press, and Mr. Cookson, photographer, for their great contribution to this book. The staff also wishes to express appreciation to the student body for its unusual coöperation in the difficult but interesting and worth-while task of publishing the POT POURRI.

Blue Book

WHAT is the Radio Club? How are team managers chosen? What time is the Recorder's Office open? What are the Andover publications? All these questions and many more are answered by The Blue Book, the Phillips Academy handbook. This convenient little publication is given to all members of the student body the first week of school, and no charge at all is made for it. This pocket manual is an indispensable aid to the incoming "preps" for it contains all the necessary information on extracurricular activities, campus regulations, athletic requirements, even timetables, as well as including the school songs and cheers. All these things are found nowhere else except in The Blue Book, and therefore this manual plays an important part in the first few weeks of new boys on Andover Hill, as well as being handy throughout the year.

The Blue Book is run by an Editor-in-Chief and by a Business Manager: the former seeing that the quantity and quality of the material, although not greatly changed, is improved from year to year; the latter taking care of the advertising which enables the book to be distributed to all the student body free of charge. The task of these two, although inconspicuous, is very difficult. Working almost singlehanded through the late summer, they gather, compile, and check quantities of data as well as solicit advertisements. After the date of distribution an Editor is picked from the upper-middler heelers and a Business Manager from the lowers and juniors. These officers are chosen from those who have worked for the book throughout the competition period.

Athletics

ATHLETICS play a very important part in the life of every boy. They build him up physically, develop coordination between his mind and body, and give him a sense of sportsmanship. At Andover organized athletics are provided for everyone in Junior Athletic, Club, Junior Varsity and Varsity teams, and P. I. tests are held to ascertain the physical efficiency of every undergraduate. Andover puts no unnatural stress on athletics, however, a star player being necessarily no more important or popular than a reserve on the second team.

MR. SHEPARD, Coach

PULLEYN, Manager

ON the night of November twelfth, the Old Campus was again illuminated by the blazing flames of the traditional victory bonfire. As the Academy celebrated its third consecutive victory over its ancient rival, Exeter, the cheers of Old P. A. shook every corner of the campus. Under the able tutelage of Coach Raymond Shepard and captaincy of Bill Townson, the Royal Blue had emerged with flying colors, Andover 14, Exeter 6.

All the season up to this last game had been a training and testing field for the big encounter. So intent were the coaches upon the season's classic, that they were willing to make experiments even at the expense of a victory in order that defeat might not be meted out to the Blue by Exeter. For this reason, pre-game predictions were almost worthless. Yet Exeter's superior record had caused us great anxiety, so the victory celebration was especially enthusiastic.

Indeed, our game record gave us little reason for hope of victory. Although eleven lettermen returned and remarkable new talent showed up, a great amount of work was necessary to whip the team into shape. Through endless efforts and patience by the coaches and the team, however, Andover easily won its first encounter with an inferior Bowdoin J.V. team, 13-0. The game was played amid showers which prevented a true estimation of the team's actual skill. This was a good beginning, but meant little as Andover made a bow the following week to the heavier and more powerful Eli yearlings, 19-7, led by Hovey Seymour, an Andover star of last year. Since this game was the second most important of the season, the defeat was sadly disappointing, but the Exeter contest was still far in the future. Next in line were the Northeastern Freshmen, who were subdued by a score of 16-6. Through the superlative efforts of Charlie Remsen, Bob Fisher, and Al Foster, the Freshmen were swept down the field before a fast-moving, hard-hitting line. After that, our team once more met with defeat, this time at the hands of a formidable Harvard '42 team who administered a thrashing, 20-0. On the Harvard team was Harold Tine, a mainstay of Andover's victorious squad last year. He led a heavier line and backfield right over the fighting boys in Blue to an overwhelming defeat. This setback caused ominous predictions for the Exeter contest because our New Hampshire rivals had beaten this same team. Expectations that we would again wear the victory laurels rose high with the approach of the Bowdoin game. We were very much disappointed when the final score gave us no better than a tie.

Through the Bowdoin game from the day of the Yale game, the team had played without that certain spark which is essential to every team for victory. This was especially seen in the incompletion of so many of our fundamental plays. Some people called it lack of spirit; others called in lack of coöperation. All we know for sure is that something was keeping the team from even approaching its potential capacity. Then with the Tufts game, the team turned over a new leaf, 26-7. The spark which had so far only sputtered and died, now took hold on the players and engrossed them in an ever-increasing flame. Plays which the team had not dared use before were successfully executed; passes were accurately hurled and skillfully caught; the opponent's defence was opened up by our line. This awakening had come just in time. The team, working as a unit, had the right to face Exeter with a great deal of confidence.

Thus with true fighting spirit Andover met Exeter in the field. On the first kickoff of the game the Blue Jerseys got a firm foothold deep in the opponent's territory. The morale of the Exeter team quickly ebbed and a series of disastrous fumbles on their part followed, but no scoring resulted. During the second period, however, when Exeter was fighting again desperately on its own three-yard line, a wild pass from center sailed high above the punter's head to chalk up the score of an automatic safety for the home team. The Red and Gray then retaliated and marched down the field for its only six points, earned by a 25-yard end run. On a similar aggressive march by Exeter another pass from center went wild. The punt was blocked, and Emmy Harris of Andover, having recovered the ball, dashed seventy-two yards up the field for a touchdown. In the third period, the Royal Blue was again in Exeter's territory, and Maurie Gould went over the last line standing up. As usual the remainder of the game was spent in excited anxiety for the final whistle. It blew. Andover was again victorious!

The school gives its heartiest congratulations to Coach Shepard and his staff for their excellent work and to the team for its spectacular playing. Also a great deal of credit belongs to Bill Townson, captain, and Jack Pulleyn, manager, for they did much of the work which made the season a successful one. At the sumptuous banquet held annually in honor of the team, Al Foster, a regular for the past two years, was elected capatin and Jim Caulkins chosen manager. Unfortunately the captain-elect withdrew from school, so in order that the players might not return to school in the fall without a leader, Maurie Gould, for two seasons a star on both offense and defense, was selected to lead the 1939 team.

PIRNIE, Co-Captain

JACKSON, Co-Captain

MR. SHEPARD, Coach

ANDOVER'S winter track team, under the experienced tutelage of Head Coach Shepard, was led through a very successful schedule by Co-Captains Jackson and Pirnie. An unofficial meet with Lawrence High School opened the season, and P. A. track enthusiasts were able to get a fine impression of their team as it swept practically every first place.

Exhibiting strength in the field events and middle distances, the Royal Blue defeated Bridgton in the season's opener, 49-23. The winning points in the next meet were made by Maurie Gould, clearing the high-jump bar at six feet, in the final event to eke out a victory over the strong Northeastern Cubs, 31½ to 30½. The New Hampshire Freshmen next fell before the Blue team, quite decisively trounced, 42-21. Lew Reisner's record-equaling performance in the 600 was the feature of the following victory over Bowdoin '42. Showing its best form of the year, Andover then took over the Dartmouth Freshmen to remain undefeated.

HINMAN, Manager

For the Exeter contest, held in the cage of our New Hampshire rivals, the forces of Andover were slightly favored. Reisner's record-breaking 600 and outstanding performances by our weight men were bright spots in an afternoon that was marred by our only defeat, as the Red and Gray showed their superiority. Particularly noteworthy throughout the season were Lew Reisner, Maurie Gould, Vern Williams, and Barney Rafferty. Reisner was undefeated and several times approached the record in the 600 before he finally broke it in the Exeter meet, while Gould, a consistent winner in both the high jump and broad jump, several times came close to record performances. Williams, also undefeated in the shot-put, succeeded in tossing the 28-lb. weight for a new record. All in all the season was far above average.

With a winter of experience, the team began its spring schedule with renewed hopes for a successful culmination to the season. The Harvard Freshmen were the first to succumb, and with a 77-49 win behind it, the team journeyed to New Haven minus the services of Jackson and Gould. Under the circumstances, the strong freshman team was able to edge Andover, 73-53. The Royal Blue came back to win the next meet from Worcester by a score of 91-35. In an extremely close meet with the Dartmouth Freshmen, P. A. winning 67-59, forecasts of a victory over Exeter were seen.

These predictions came true as the winter defeat was well avenged by an easy conquest of the Red and Gray. Coach Ed Flanagan's hammer throwers, who had been doing excellently all season, came through again and swept their event, the best Exeter effort being thirty feet behind the third Andover man. Co-Captain Jackson led the javelin contestants as we also swept that event. Maurie Gould broke the broad-jump record he had set shortly before by an amazing leap of 24 ft.  $\frac{1}{2}$  inch. Co-Captain Pirnie continued undefeated and won both the 100 and the 220. Vern Williams was barely nosed out in the shot, suffering his first loss, but he came back to win the discus. Lew Reisner and Towy Myrddin-Evans were again invincible, the former winning the half mile, and the latter, the quarter. Bill Coughlan ran his best mile of the season, but was finally passed in the last twenty yards to take third against his opponents.

In the second team meet, Dick Wareham and Rollo Fisher both broke the hammer-throw record, while their teammates were cleaning up what was left of a shattered New Hampshire contingent. Chauncey Hall was also outstanding, winning both the 100 and 220 hurdles.

At the annual track dinner held in the Commons, Maurie Gould and Bill Coles were elected Co-Captains for next year, the former to lead team in the field events, and the latter in the track events. Ed Hammond was elected to fill the position of manager, and with these leaders, P. A. should have no worries about next year's team.

O'BRIEN, Captain

MR. DONOVAN, Coach

HOWLAND, Manager

DURING his second year as Andover's baseball coach, Mr. Donovan again produced a successful team. The material showed promise from the start with the return of seven lettermen, led by Junie O'Brien. Chase and Phelan took over the mound duties and were reinforced by Lanigan, a new man, Riege, and Cahill. In the infield Welch remained at catcher, Dudan at second base, Captain O'Brien at shortstop, and Hart at third. Whelan, the only new man, did a fine job at first. In the outfield Walsh returned to center, while Brennan and Townson took right and left fields respectively. Because of Dudan's mid-season illness, Boynton played second. For the Exeter game, Dudan returned to play third and Hart took over left field.

Andover got off to a flying start by defeating Thayer Academy. Phelan and Chase limited Thayer to three meager hits, while Welch's double and two singles paced Andover's batting. In the contest with Hyde Park, Chase and Phelan shared the honors of a no-hit victory, while their teammates scored five runs on six hits. Whelan and Walsh led the hitting with two apiece. The following Saturday the team went to New Haven to meet the Yale Freshmen. Despite the fact that Ted Harrison, last year Andover's pitcher-captain, struck out sixteen of his former teammates, Chase and Phelan combined to give Andover victory. Dudan starred at the plate, hitting a triple and two doubles. In the field Andover distinguished itself equally well, making two double plays.

The first defeat for the Blue was suffered at the hands of the New Hampshire Freshmen in a thrilling contest, 8-7. The game ended with the tying run on third and the winning run on first. It was a heart-breaker. O'Brien distinguished himself by knocking out a homer and a single. For the next game Andover went to Governor Dummer where they defeated the home team in an eleven-inning pitchers' duel, 3-1. Lanigan, making his debut on the mound for Andover, and Koslowski exhibited fine pitching, each allowing but four hits. Whelan again led the batting with two hits. Then the Blue scored its fifth victory by defeating Deerfield. Chase pitched the whole game and was well supported by excellent fielding which included two double plays. Of Andover's eight hits, Walsh, O'Brien, and Whelan each knocked out a double and a single.

The second defeat was administered by the powerful Harvard Freshmen. Phelan went the route for Andover, and the fine fielding continued with the Blue's sixth double play of the season. Andover made six hits, Whelan batting out two doubles in three tries, and Brennan knocking a home run and a single. The following Wednesday, Lawrence Academy bowed to an eleven-hit attack, Lanigan permitting but four hits. Andover made three more double plays, two by Whelan unassisted. Tilton Academy was the next victim, Phelan pitching a five-hit game. Brennan's second home run of the year accounted for three of the Blue's four tallies. Against Worcester Chase and Lanigan pitched a losing nine-hit game. Whelan again had a field day, hitting two singles in three times at bat. A Blue rally in the ninth was halted with the tying run on third just after two scores had crossed the plate. Two more double plays, one by Boynton unassisted, swelled the Andover total to eleven. In the next to last contest the Dartmouth Freshmen pounded three Andover hurlers for a total of twelve hits, while MacNeary, the Green pitcher, struck out eighteen batters.

In the final game at Exeter the Royal Blue was defeated 9-7 in a thrilling seesaw contest which saw the lead change hands five times. Exeter scored first, but Andover bunched two hits and two free bases to tie up the ball game. Then in the next inning consecutive singles by Phelan, Dudan, and O'Brien filled the bases, and one run came in on Brennan's long sacrifice fly. A single and an error accounted for three more tallies, and Andover led, 5-1. However, Exeter rallied in their time at bat to score five runs and take the lead, 6-5. Chase had relieved Phelan in this inning. Lanigan took over from Chase in the sixth and stopped a threatening rally, and then in the seventh Whelan's terrific home run smash, with Captain O'Brien on base, put Andover back into the lead. But Exeter pushed three runs across in the eighth to assume again the lead which this time Andover could not overcome. Whelan and Dudan batted especially well, the former hitting a homer and a single in three trips to the plate and the latter knocking out three singles in five tries. Captain O'Brien played a superb game in the field, making fine stops and catches and keeping up his team's spirits. He and Coach Donovan, as well as Mr. Follansbec and Manager Howland, deserve a great deal of credit for their untiring work with the team.

CONANT, Captain

MR. RYLEY, Coach

BLUM, Manager

THE Soccer Team, as usual, enjoyed an excellent season. Partly because of Jim Ryley's coaching, partly because of the excellent spirit that prevailed, the team progressed steadily and reached its peak against Exeter. It is difficult to name one "star", for the team was very evenly balanced. Scheid, German exchange student, was the leading scorer and the most devastating kicker on the team. However, without the impregnable defense supplied by Parker, Anderson, and Phelan, a defense which allowed only three goals during the whole season, Andover could not have achieved her unbeaten and untied record.

There were other excellent players on the team. Ritts, Riege, Görner, Boynton, Jones, Cowles, Herskovits, and Heidrich rounded out a well-fortified combination. Captain Conant was indispensable. Not only did his spirit maintain the team's morale, but also it was he, who, with only a short time to play, scored the winning goal against Exeter. A team is no better than its captain, and this Andover team was good.

The season's best games were against Deerfield, which Coach Ryley considered the best team on the schedule, and Exeter. The latter game was intensely exciting. Exeter scored after the first minutes of play. A little later Scheid was fouled just outside of the circle and scored a very difficult shot, kicking the ball into the goal over the heads of six Exeter players. With only five minutes to play in the last period, Captain Conant took the ball on a pass from Cowles and scored the winning goal. In conclusion, Joe Parker was elected to lead next year's team and Hamilton James to serve as its manager.

ONLY one extramural meet was held during the 1938 Cross Country season, for the athletic and medical departments had wisely considered the strain of the long-distance races. The runners were not inactive, however, for Mr. Hallowell put them through hard workouts daily, and each week an intramural meet was held. In these contests over the regular three-mile course, Captain Coughlan was never once led to the finish, although Reisner pressed him all the time.

Late in the fall, a meet with Nashua High was arranged to reward the runners for their hard work and fine performances. Coughlan ran a brilliant race despite the low temperature, leading his team to a close victory with a first place and a new course record. Close in his tracks was a Nashua harrier and then Reisner, both of whom also eclipsed the former record. Kip, who ran a superb race, Sanford and Whittington were the next Andover men in, each having won a nip-and-tuck duel.

The Cross Country Cup, donated this year by the Athletic Association, was awarded to Rolf Kip, for his performance, training habits, sportsmanship, "guts", improvement and interest. Every member of this team, the strongest in years, deserved a prize, as did Coach Hallowell and the manager, whose faithful work was so valuable. Benepe was elected to lead the 1939 team, which will be made almost entirely of new material.

THE ski season was so hampered by the customary lack of snow, that three of the scheduled six meets were cancelled, including the Private School Ski Association Interscholastics that were to be held at Andover. The first meet was with Exeter, on the "no-score" basis. Our team, composed mainly of "preps" and last year's second team, was a very even match for Exeter. Captain Blanding proved Andover's superiority in the cross country with a near-record performance, whereas Look was the only one who could touch Exeter in the slalom. The team faced the Andover Ski Runners, a local organization, in the second meet. The opponents scored only in the jump; Look, in the downhill, and Blanding, in the cross country, being especially instrumental in administering them a  $40\frac{1}{2}$ - $3\frac{1}{2}$  defeat.

A ten-man team went to the Cushing Interscholastics at Ashburnham, where a fair showing was made under adverse conditions. Andover with 349.7 points, took third place behind Vermont Academy and Cushing, which scored 397.8 and 376.9 respectively. The team's hardest struggle was with Deerfield, which eventually wound up in fourth place with 340.3 points. P. A.'s forte was the cross country, and the most outstanding Andover exhibition was by Bradley. Thus ended a season for which Coach Sanborn can be handsomely complimented. From the large group of enthusiastic skiers that appeared daily at Prospect Hill, a good team for next year can be chosen.

Basketball

DUDAN, Captain

MR. DiCLEMENTI, Coach

F. GILE, Manager

WITH the graduation of nine men from last year's squad, and with but three letter men returning, Coach DiClementi was indeed faced with a difficult problem last December when basketball practice began. In the opening tilt of the season, M.I.T. upset the inexperienced P. A. hoopsters by a very close margin. In its next clash, the Blue team showed its real strength and forecast an excellent season by crushing Tilton. Captain Dudan, a star performer for the past three years, and a new man, Bennett, at center, paced the team in scoring. The next five opponents, Harvard Jayvees, Northeastern Freshmen, Bridgton, Worcester, and Babson, fell before the Blue onslaught. Brooks Smith was particularly outstanding in the Bridgton game, which was won by one point. The Harvard Freshmen took the next game after a hard fought battle, but our quintet came back to win over the Tufts '42. A strong Yale Freshman group set the team back in spite of Bennett's notable performance, Bennett scoring 19 points.

In hopes of avenging a defeat suffered last year in a very close game, the Andover quintet, composed of Captain Dudan, Bennett, Hoopes, Smith, and Whelan, traveled to Exeter to meet a strong Red and Gray five. During the first half the Royal Blue could not seem to get started, but with the beginning of the third period, however, it began to play the good game of which it was so capable. Accurate passing and deadly shooting, combined with aggressive play by our five men, who played the entire game, gave the P. A. team a large margin of victory when the final gun sounded.

With eight wins and but three defeats, all suffered at the hands of college freshman aggregations, the team compiled a record of which it and the entire Academy should indeed be proud. The thanks and praise of the whole school are extended to Coach DiClementi for his masterful work, to manager Fred Gile for his efficiently, well-done job, and to Captain Pete Dudan for his inspiring leadership which meant so much to the team. Brooks Smith, a bulwark of defense, who played excellently at guard all season, and Tracy Dickson were elected captain and manager respectively at the annual banquet held at the close of the season.

HARDWICKE, Captain

MR. DAKE, Coach

PATTESON, Manager

NO season is really successful if the Exeter meet is lost. Unfortunately the Exonians were too much for us this year, but there were compensations for this final defeat. Several records were broken and many other excellent times turned in by the team. Our outstanding performer was Pulleyn, who, beside being high-point scorer, broke the school record in the fifty-yard freestyle by covering the distance in twenty-four seconds flat, good college time.

The team began the season by crushing Gardner High, which, however, had an excellent backstroker. The following week a most interesting and enjoyable trip was made to New Haven, but the home team, temporarily halting its hospitality, proved itself our superior. After two not very exciting contests, the Blue gave Dartmouth, already defeated by Exeter, a stiff struggle, weakening only at the end when an illegal start nullified a victory in the relay.

Against Exeter, Pulleyn led off by beating the opponent's captain in the fifty-yard freestyle. The time was excellent. Soon, however, the New Hampshiremen had the upper hand. Skinner, World's Record holder in the one hundred-yard breaststroke, took his event according to expectations. Exeter continued by copping the two hundred-yard freestyle and the backstroke, Captain Harwicke being runner-up in this latter event. The visitors increased their lead by taking the one hundred-yard freestyle and the dive. In the one hundred and fifty-yard medley the opposition set a new meet record of one minute twenty-four seconds. Pulleyn, last to swim for the Royal Blue, was the victor in a thrilling, hairline finish.

Coach "Rocky" Dake can feel proud of the season, and Captain Hardwicke and Manager Patteson are to be commended for the jobs they did so well. Jay Drake, a consistent point-earner, was chosen as next year's captain and Dave Gile as manager.

Wrestling

GARVAN, Captain

MR. CARLSON, Coach

HOLTHAUSEN, Manager

EXCEPT for the first match, when a defeat was suffered at the hands of a strong Haverhill squad, the wrestling team, headed by Captain Garvan, did not receive a setback. Andover's successful season was due, partly to such dependable men as Castles, Heywood, Macomber, Captain Garvan and Horwitz and partly to the experienced coaching of "Cy" Carlson. The outstanding P. A. grappler was Jack Castles, who was not defeated all season.

The first meet with Haverhill High found the squad inexperienced and out of condition. But the next week, a stronger and wiser team made up for this defeat by swamping the Tufts Freshmen, 28-8. Following this match, the team went to Milton and overcame a highly-touted aggregation. The outstanding match was wrestled by Jack Castles who, facing defeat near the end of his match, staged a comeback and pinned his opponent with the strange Japanese key-lock. Then Captain Garvan, Burnam, Macomber and Manice made possible a victory of 21-9.

To keep up their winning streak, the matmen showed up well against the Harvard team in an exciting match which was undecided until the end of the last combat. The high spot of the meet, the match between Tine, an ex-Andover wrestler, and Macomber, was called a draw after several overtime periods. Castles again threw his man; Captain Garvan got a decision; Hood fought to a draw; and Horwitz gained a decision clinching the match, 17-11.

The grapplers then vanquished a strong Quincy High team; this match was also brought to a close by Art Horwitz who threw his man to win the meet for Andover.

The high light of the season from all points of view was naturally the Exeter contest. After valuable points had been won by Captain Garvan, Castles and Macomber, the fate of the meet, indeed the whole season, rested upon Horwitz. With a mere five seconds left to the end of his match, Horwitz put on extra pressure and made the needed pin to win, 14-12. This was the conclusion of a very successful season, the year's record being five wins to one loss.

Mention must be made of Captain Garvan's fine leadership and Manager Holthausen's efficiency. Together they were one of the foremost factors in the team's success. Bill Macomber, who scored three wins and a draw, was elected captain of next year's team.

A. FOSTER, Captain

STRAUSS, Manager

MR. KNIGHT, Coach

WITH promising material among the new men and a few of last year's stand-bys, Coach Dick Knight fashioned another good hockey team, but unfortunately in several games the squad was handicapped by injury and the ineligibility of several star players. In the pre-season competition at Lake Placid, the Andover team won its first match with Northwood, 2-1. Losing the second encounter to Nichols, 3-1, they came back to defeat Choate in the last game by a score of 3-2. While at Lake Placid during this tournament the team was royally entertained by Northwood, the host and sponsor of the games. This trip, taken at the end of the holidays, was welcomed by all the team as a grand party and good practice.

Andover lost the first game of the season, a nip and tuck battle, to the Milton skaters, 5-4. Overcoming an early Harvard lead in the next contest, the P. A. forces tied the freshmen 5-5. In one of the closest games of the year, Andover edged St. Mark's 1-0. This was the first season game in which all of the first team could play, with the exception of Junie O'Brien who was on the injured list. Belmont Hill set back the Blue 3-0 in the following encounter. Northeastern and Melrose fell before our team, 3-2 and 6-3. The Medford game was called off at the half because of poor ice.

On February 15, at the Boston Garden, the Andover team was defeated by a favored Exeter sextet by the score of 4-2. Andover played the best game of its season, but the opponents were too fast. Bob Pelren, solo, and Bill Arnold, assisted by Bud Foster, accounted for the two Blue tallies. Outstanding throughout the entire season was big defenseman Stan Priddy who time and again broke up enemy thrusts toward the P. A. goal, and converted them into tallies for the Blue.

WITH only a few lettermen back the season started in January, and the difficult job of shaping a team began. In the first meet Andover encountered the Dartmouth Sword Club, a powerful aggregation always, and lost by the close score of 8-9. The next week Brown '42 defeated the Blue, 12-5, and following this were two more defeats, one at the hands of Worcester Academy, 10-7, and the other by the M.I.T. freshmen, 7-6. Then, against the Duke Sword Club of Manchester, Andover won its only victory of the year by a score of 15½-9½. The next two were dropped to Loomis, 15-10, and to Harvard '42, 17-10.

The Exeter meet was contested only with foils, and both the first and second teams competed. They were closely-fought matches in which the first group lost, 4-5, and the second won, 5-4. This fourth contest with Exeter ended a season which was not victorious but which had its compensations: the foils team, consisting of Captain Jones, Dargan, Bixby and Kip was well above average, with Jones proving himself to be one of the finest foil men Andover has ever had. This year for the first time an intervarsity foils meet was held, and medals were awarded the victors. Although most of the team is graduating, there are several promising prospects for next year.

McGOWEN, Captain

MR. PHILLIPS, Coach

THE loss of four top-flight men from last year's team, and the lack of a good practice field, did not prevent this year's Polo squad from enjoying a most successful season. Through the excellent coaching of Lyle Phillips, the fine mounts, the leadership of Captain Norris McGowen, and the support and teamwork of an enthusiastic squad, many victories were again recorded for the Blue. Very important to the team's success were the great improvements made by Jim Mooney, Sid Cox, and Roger Phillips.

The schedule included encounters with the Danvers Polo Club, the Hunt Club of Dedham, and the Riding and Hunt Club of Myopia. Outstanding at all times was Captain McGowen, who was the high-scoring man of the year. In the game with the Myopia Riding and Hunt Club the Andover squad carried the day with a score of 10-7. A close game was lost to the hard-riding Dedham club, and in their final game of the season the Andover equestrians defeated Danvers by the close score of 10-8. This game, the hardest of the year, was won in the last chukker and a victory for Andover over Danvers stands as a real tribute to a good captain and a hard-fighting team. The squad chose Roger Phillips to captain next year's team, which will have to be composed either of new addicts to the sport or of capable riders just entering school.

Tennis

GOODKIND, Captain

MR. H. P. KELLEY, Coach

T. A. KELLY, Manager

THE tennis team was handicapped by a late start this year due to the prolonged cold weather. To its four returning lettermen, Captain Goodkind, Early, Malo, and Northrup were added Makepeace, ex-captain at Taft, and Pugh. So closely matched was the team that it was very hard for Coach Kelley to give any player a definite ranking.

In spite of the team's having only one day's practice before the first meet, it was beaten only by a very narrow margin. The following week, a much more experienced team swamped the M.I.T. Freshmen without losing a match. Just as everything seemed going well, fate struck: Pugh sprained an ankle, and Malo pulled a ligament in his shoulder. Thus crippled, the team lost a close match to Hebron. In this meet two ranking junior stars played for the opponents. The next match against Winchester High School was won quite easily. Only Goodkind and Makepeace were taken to three sets, and the doubles were an easy clinch. The full team was again playing against the Tufts Freshmen who were easily conquered. This was followed by one of the best matches of the season against Choate's famed team. Early playing in the first position was taken only after making an excellent stand against the Choate champion. After another week of practice the team went up to play the powerful Dartmouth Freshmen at Hanover. The Andover team and coaches were the guests of Dartmouth for dinner and were entertained at the college movies.

The final and most important match of the year was that with Exeter. Although the team lost, seven of the nine matches went to three sets. Early, Makepeace and Malo were easily overcome, whereas Captain Goodkind and Pugh put up a stiff fight. Northrup won a very hard and drawn-out battle. Malo and Pugh were the P. A. doubles heroes. However, the Andover seconds defeated their opponents quite handily.

Coaches "Pat" and "Bart" Kelley, Mr. Packer, Captain Goodkind, and Manager T. A. Kelly deserve thanks and praise for their outstanding year's work.

MARSHALL, Captain

MR. JAMES, Coach

DIBBLE, Manager

CAPTAIN Ed Marshall led this year one of the potentially most powerful teams that Andover Hill has seen, built around a strong nucleus of returning lettermen. In the contests preceding the Exeter game, the Blue was up and down in the quality of its playing. It lost only one game however, and won the others by safe margins. The first game, with the M.I.T. freshmen, the Blue team won by a score of 9-1, but it did not really click till the following week when it defeated for the first time since 1934, the Boston Lacrosse Club, 5-1. The New Hampshire freshmen went down before the superior stick-wielding of P. A., by the score of 7-1, as the team became more controlled. Then Dartmouth '42 overcame the Andover team, 9-6, in a game in which the Blue failed to show their real ability. Deerfield was beaten in a finely matched game, 6-4, whereas Tufts freshmen and the Harvard freshmen proved easier opponents and took a 9-3, and 10-3 beating, respectively. In the final game before the Exeter encounter, the stickmen defeated Governor Dummer Academy, 11-6.

The Exeter squad was the finest in their history, and its weight and power had succumbed only to the Boston Lacrosse Club. The lighter Andover team fared unsuccessfully from the start and at the end of the first half, Exeter led 7-2. Marshall and Schueler had tallied for the Blue. The Red and Gray powerhouse got three more goals in the third quarter and six more against our "subs" in the fourth, piling the final score to 16-2. Coach James, Captain Marshall, and Manager Richard Dibble deserve great credit for their work, and effort on behalf of the team, as another Andover lacrosse season trails into history.

MR. R. W. SIDES, Coach

P. ANDERSON, Manager

AT the beginning of the spring term about thirty candidates reported to Coaches Bill Brown and Bob Sides, with Captain Hardwicke, Mulcahy, and Williams the only returning lettermen. Lewis, Murray, and Bemis returned from last year's second team and proved a considerable asset throughout the season. The first match on April 26th resulted in a win over Governor Dummer.

Shortly after this Pete Anderson was elected manager for the year. On the next Saturday the team journeyed to New Haven and was turned back by the Yale Freshmen, but the following week it was back in winning form to defeat Clark School. At the same time the second team defeated the Nashua High School, to keep the day's record clear. The Harvard Freshmen were turned back as Captain Hardwicke scored a hole in one on the par 3 eleventh, the only ace on record made by a student at the academy. Governor Dummer was again conquered in a return match, and the team continued its winning streak by a victory over Lowell Tech. Choate and the faculty, under the leadership of Mr. Poynter in the absence of Dr. Fuess, were the next victims. The latter was one of the year's most enjoyable matches, and Mr. Poynter, Mr. French, Mr. L. C. Newton, Dr. Eccles, Mr. Brown, and Mr. R. W. Sides formed the team that succumbed.

In the last match of the season Exeter defeated our team  $6\frac{1}{2}$  to  $2\frac{1}{2}$ . Many of the matches were close, but the team did not seem able to break through the Red and Gray string of victories and win. The first foursome played exceptionally well and split with their opponents, but the rest of the team, except Mulcahy, was defeated. The second team partially made up for this defeat by subduing the Exeter seconds.

Greer Hardwicke and Pete Anderson are to be praised for their able leadership through a better than average season, and much credit is due to Bob Sides and Bill Brown for their good working coaching the team. Tom Lewis, who played in the number one position for most of the season, was elected captain for next year.

P. A. Life

IN this section, which was originated last year in about this same form, the POT POURRI attempts to present those aspects of school life which would not usually be recorded in a yearbook. By no means are all phases of Andover life represented, but a selected few have been chosen for this pictorial. Through these pages especially, the editors are promoting the modern trend for annuals of replacing printed material with photographs, which are more expressive and consequently more interesting.

UNDERGRADUATE PERSONALITIES

Societies

ANDOVER is one of the few schools that still retains societies, societies with most of the secrecy and initiation customs that they had when founded years ago. They serve the very useful purpose of promoting lasting friendships and providing an excellent place for the entertainment of the two upper classes. Their influence in school life, particularly on the political side of it, is considerable, but yet is declining to what many consider a more reasonable amount.

Underclassmen and Advertisers

THE importance of the underclassmen in school life is greater than this book implies. There appears to be no very obvious way of giving them their proper attention, other than what has already been done herein. It is a task for the future.

To the advertisers, the POT POURRI extends its sincere thanks for helping to make possible the publication of this volume. It is hoped that the "ads" will be as carefully read as the rest of the book.

ONCE again a senior class has played out its part in the history of Andover.

The Andover Shop expresses appreciation for the part it has been privileged to play in the success of the Class of 1939 through providing correct dress in keeping with their high standards.

We sincerely hope that we may have the opportunity for continued service through LANGROCK shops at Yale, Brown, Penn., Williams, Princeton, or New York City.

—DICTIONARY

Never a thing of rapid growth, the international prestige enjoyed by Smith of Bermuda was acquired under a long-established policy of sponsoring only the finest in apparel and accessories.

The British and French importations offered here have pleased two generations of visitors from all parts of the civilized world. Their strongest appeal is always to those who are familiar with superlative materials...who recognize fine workmanship...and whose appreciation of consummate quality is not less keen because the cost is moderate.

YOUR VACATION IN SOUTH FLORIDA

It's something to write home about! Swimming is perfect. The water, warmed by the Gulf Stream to approximately 70° the year around, is about the same temperature as the air. You can catch sailfish, barracuda and other deep-sea giants just off shore. There are probably more things to see and do here than anywhere else—sailing, horse and dog racing, golf, tennis, dancing, playing in the sunshine, having a world of fun. And you'll like the South's largest ocean-front resort hotel, with its great private beach, complete "country club", world famous 18-hole golf course—complete facilities for every diversion under the sun. Your friends and family will like it, too. Why not begin now to "promote" this trip, either this summer or at Christmas or Easter? Write for booklet, information.

Exceeding the standards . . .

Typog- raphy  Excellent	Are attractive and related type faces used throughout the book? Does typography suit the plan of book? Is it easy to read? Is there a proper relationship between body type, headings and identifications? Are the following common faults avoided: too many type families or sizes; type used too black or too heavy; body type too small for length of the line; excessive use of all-capitals?	Average Score 15
	Typography . . . . . Your Score	30
*Printing  Fine	Do opposite pages line up properly? Are pages properly backed up? (Hold a sheet of your book to the light and note whether or not the page behind lines up at the margins exactly with the page in front). Are bleed pictures properly trimmed? Is the color work perfectly registered? (i.e. does each color fit exactly the spots for which it is intended?) Is the ink distribution uniform throughout the book, or are some pages light and others dark in color? Are the pages free from offset (smudges or spots on the paper)? from broken type? from work-ups (spacing material that registers)?	Average Score 15
	Printing . . . . . Your Score	25

This is the rating given by the National Scholastic Press Association of the University of Minnesota to one of New England's largest Annuals—printed at the Andover Press.

{ Typography . . . 100% above average }

Which explains why so many yearbooks in this vicinity choose Andover to do their printing.

They get superior workmanship and personal cooperation at a price they can afford to pay.
